BA in Social Science and Sustainable Development at Chiang Mai University

People • Society • Sustainable Future

The BA in Social Science and Sustainable Development (BA-SSSD) was established in 2011 and designed to provide students with a solid foundation in social sciences to equip students with an understanding of the dynamics of society and culture in the context of globalization.

The program offers a comprehensive understanding through a variety of courses, including:

Anthropology

Sociology

Political Science

Geography

Development
Studies

Gender
Studies

Ethnicity

and others

Through diverse courses provided and the adoption of social science conceptual and analytical tools, these will deepen students' understanding of the economic, political, social, culture and environmental changes taking place in the region as well as other emerging issues and phenomena ranging from resource management to migration and climate change to food security and emerging diseases and cyber-crimes.
